To whom it may concern:

The Nebraska Corn Board is happy to support the grant application submitted by staff of Iowa State University that will evaluate the possible policy implications of climate change. Having the ability to decipher possible impacts that climate change may have will provide a good foundation of information that would assist in make strategic decisions.

In addition to our support, we would offer our time to attend stakeholder meetings to help guide evaluation of various scenarios and methods.

In closing, we support and would urge approval of enclosed grant application.

Sincerely,
